Instructions for finding copies of unpublished tests & measures in PsycINFO

1) Go to the advanced search screen.
   (Follow the advanced search link under the basic search box)

2) Select TM Tests and Measures in the select a field drop down menu next to the first search box.

3) Type the title of the test or measure in the first search box followed by the word appended.
   - For this search to work you will need to know a title of a test or a partial title.
   - Including the word appended after the title will limit your results to articles that include a copy of the test instrument.

4) In the results list choose the article that most closely matches the subject area to which your test would apply.

5) Click on the article title to see a descriptive record. Then scroll down to the Tests and Measures field to see if the correct test is listed.
   - All the tests that are used in the article will be listed under Tests & Measures. Tests for which the full instrument is included will be noted as “Appended”

6) Look in the full text of the article to find the test instrument itself.
   - This will often be at the end of the article.
